3 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

3.1 Accounting Convention and Basis of Preparation

These financial statements have been prepared under the `historical cost convention', except that investments have been included at fair/market value as at the balance sheet date (refer note 11 and 14).

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with IASs requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of policies and reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis of making the judgments about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates. However, assumptions and judgments made by the management in the application of accounting policies that have significant effect on the financial statements are not expected to result in material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets and liabilities in the next year.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised if the revision affects only the period, or in the period of the revision and future periods. Judgments made by management in application of the approved accounting standards that have significant effect on the financial statements and estimates with a significant risk of material adjustment in the next year are discussed in respective policy notes.

3.2 Staff Retirement Benefits

Defined Contribution Plan

The company operates a recognized provident fund for all its eligible permanent employees. Equal monthly contributions at the rate of 12.50% of basic salary are made both by the company and the employees.

3.3 Taxation

Provision for current taxation is based on taxable income at current rates of taxation after taking into account tax rebates and tax credit available, if any.

Deferred tax is calculated using the liability method on all temporary differences at the balance sheet date, between the tax base of the assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that the deductible temporary differences will reverse in the future and sufficient taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of all deferred tax assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax assets to be utilized.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or subsequently enacted at the balance sheet date.

3.4 Property, Equipment and Depreciation

Fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation on fixed assets is charged on quarterly basis to profit and loss account by applying reducing balance method at the rates specified in fixed assets note 10. Gains and losses on disposal of fixed assets, are taken to profit and loss account accordingly. Normal repairs and maintenance are charged to profit and loss as and when incurred.

3.5 Investments in Subsidiaries and Associated Undertakings

The company considers its subsidiary company to be such enterprise in which the company have control and ownership of more than half of the voting power. The company considers its associates to be such in which the company have ownership of more than twenty percent of the voting and/or has significant influence, but not control, and is neither a subsidiary nor an interest in a joint venture.

Investments in subsidiaries and associated companies held by the company are initially recognized at cost, being the fair value of the consideration given including acquisition charges associated with investment. After initial recognition, investments are remeasured at fair value prevailing on the balance sheet date. Where active market of the investment exists, fair value is determined through Karachi Stock Exchange daily quotation and where active market does not exist, fair value is determined by using valuation techniques.

The resultant effect of such remeasurement at fair value is taken to equity in case of a subsidiary and through profit or loss in case of an associated company.

3.6 Other Investments

The management determines the appropriate classification of its investments in accordance with the requirements of International Accounting Standard 39; 'Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement', at the time of purchase and re-evaluates this classification on a regular basis. Investments are categorized as follows:

- At Fair Value Through Profit and Loss
Investments which are acquired principally for the purpose of selling in the near term or the investments that are part of a portfolio of financial instruments exhibiting short term profit taking, are classified as investment at fair value through profit and loss.

These are stated at fair values with any resulting gains or losses recognized directly in the profit and loss account. The fair value of such investments representing listed equity are determined on the basis of prevailing market prices.
- Held to Maturity
Investments with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity, which the company has the positive intent and ability to hold to maturity, are classified as held to maturity, are carried at amortized cost, using the effective yield method less impairment losses, if so determined.
- Available for Sale
Investments classified as available for sale are initially measured at cost, being the fair value of consideration given. At subsequent reporting dates, these investments are remeasured at fair value (quoted market price), unless fair value cannot be reliably measured. The investments for which a quoted market price is not available, are measured at cost. Realized and unrealized gains and losses arising from changes in fair value is taken to equity of the company.

3.7 Trade Date Accounting

All "regular way" purchases and sales of financial assets are recognized on the trade date, that is the date on which the company commits to purchase / sell an asset. Regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are the contract for which requires delivery of assets within the time frame generally established by regulation or convention in the market.

3.8 Trade Debts

These are stated net of provision for doubtful debts. Full provision is made against the debts considered doubtful.

27.2 Concentration of Credit Risk and Credit Exposure of the Financial Instruments.

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will fail to discharge obligation and cause the other party to incur a financial loss.

The company is not exposed to major concentration of credit risk as its debt securities are marketable and readily traded on the stock exchange. The company seeks to minimize its credit risk exposure by dealing with customers considered credit worthy against pledge of marketable securities and makes full provision against those balances considered doubtful of recovery.

27.3 Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is an amount for which an asset could be exchanged or a liability settled between knowledgeable willing parties in arm's length transaction. Consequently, differences may arise between the carrying values and the fair value estimates.

Underlying the definition of fair value is the presumption that the company is a going concern without any intention or requirement to curtail materially the scale of its operations or to undertake a transaction on adverse terms.

The carrying value of all the financial assets and liabilities reflected in the financial statements approximate their fair value.

27.4 Liquidity Risk

Prudent liquidity risk management implies maintaining sufficient cash and marketable securities and the availability of funding through an adequate amount of committed credit facilities. Company treasury aims at maintaining flexibility in funding by keeping regular credit lines with the banks.

3 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

3.1 Accounting Convention and Basis of Preparation

These financial statements have been prepared under the 'historical cost convention', except that investments available for sale and investments at fair value through profit and loss are measured at their fair values.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with IASs requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of policies and reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis of making the judgments about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates. However, assumptions and judgments made by the management in the application of accounting policies that have significant effect on the financial statements are not expected to result in material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets and liabilities in the next year.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised.

3.2 Staff Retirement Benefits

Defined Contribution Plan

The company operates a recognized provident fund for all its eligible permanent employees. Equal monthly contributions at the rate of 12.50% of basic salary are made both by the company and the employees.

Deferred tax is calculated using the liability method on all temporary differences at the balance sheet date, between the tax base of the assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that the deductible temporary differences will reverse in the future and sufficient taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of all deferred tax assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax assets to be utilized.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or subsequently enacted at the balance sheet date.

Assets held under finance leases are recognized as assets of the Company at their fair value or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments, each determined at the inception of the lease. The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the balance sheet as liabilities against assets subject to finance lease. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and reduction of liabilities against assets subject to finance lease so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of liability. Finance charges are charged directly against income.
